DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nikolayev (US 6,290,049 B1).

Regarding Claim 1, Nikolayev discloses a data generating device for a bulk vending machine having a coin mechanism having a rotatable cam, as illustrated in figures 3-6, a data compilation/transfer device (310), a switch assembly (232, 236, 238, 242, 244)

Regarding Claim 2, Nikolayev also discloses a battery at col. 8, line 66-col. 9, line 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nikolayev in view of Porco et al (US 5,909,795).

Nikolayev discloses the data generation device as described above.

Nikolayev does not expressly disclose, but Porco discloses a reed switch and inductive coil for the purpose of contacting the cam and registering the count of coins.

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have used either a reed switch or an induction coil in Nikolayev's device, as taught by Porco, in order to register the passage of a raised cam surface, and therefore record a coin to be added to the coin count. Note that it would have been obvious to use a reed switch over an induction coil based upon cost, accuracy and maintenance issues.
